

Caring FOR cancer's youngest fighters

"The expertise your child needs in cancer care is here, locally.
[But] we could not do a fraction of what we do without philanthropy, on so many different levels." – Kara Kelly, MD, Program Director

Golisano Children's Hospital of Buffalo (formerly Oishei Children's Hospital) has become a choice destination for families when they are faced with the unthinkable – a child diagnosed with cancer.

We are committed to providing the highest level of hematology and oncology care to every child who needs it right here in WNY. Our care team could not do a fraction of their expansive work without philanthropy. Crucial positions needed to best care for our patients, such as our Child Life and Healing Arts teams, are only possible through the generous support from our community through events like The 11 Day Power Play.
